

🏠 > News

Paris and Brussels terror attacks were coordinated by Syria-based jihadist called Oussama Atar, French and Belgian intelligence believe

GETTING STARTED WITH THE INTERNET OF THINGS: CONNECTING SENSORS AND MICROCONTROLLERS...
CUNO PFISTER
PAPERBACK

$17.98

Photo thought to be of Oussama Atar, a Belgian-Moroccan who French and Belgian intelligence believe coordinated the Paris and Brussels attacks from Syria CREDIT: LE PARISIEN

By Henry Samuel, PARIS

8 NOVEMBER 2016 • 12:33PM

French investigators have identified a Syria-based extremist who Amnesty International campaigned to care for in Iraqi jail as a suspected coordinator of attacks in Paris and Brussels, sources close to the case have told French media.

Oussama Ahmad Atar, a 32-year-old of dual Belgian and Moroccan nationality thought to have high-ranking links in Isil, was already a suspect in the Brussels attacks on March 22 but has now been linked to the November 13, 2015 atrocities in Paris.

How it happened | Friday 13th Paris attacks

Show more

French investigators have long suspected that the Paris attacks, in which teams of jihadists killed 130 people, were coordinated by one or several people from Syria, but have never named anyone before.

Sponsored stories

Recommended by

Why Customer Service Workers Are More Important Than Ever

salesforce.com

Add $1.2 Million to Your Retirement ... In 15 Minutes

The Sovereign Investor

"He's the only coordinator from Syria to have been identified during the investigations," one of the sources told AFP.

Investigators in Belgium and France were long unsure as to who was the person behind Abou Amahad, a nom de guerre long linked to the terror attacks in Paris and in Brussels on March 22, in which 32 died.

'It was awful. There was just blood. It was like the apocalypse': How the Brussels attacks unfolded 01:57

According to Le Monde, he was identified from a strip of several photographs as Oussama Atar by Adel Haddadi, one of the Syria-based terror suspects he had sent to Europe to commit atrocities but who failed to reach Paris in time for the November attacks.

Atar's name had already been mentioned in the Belgian press in August as a potential "mastermind" of the Brussels bombings with no further details. Now a "certain consensus" exists that he coordinated the attacks in both capitals remotely from Syria.

Le Monde said that he had long been based in Raqqa, Isil's de-facto capital in Syria, where a US-backed Kurdish alliance has just launched a campaign to try and retake the city from the jihadists.

Investigators identified Atar as the recruiting sergeant for two Iraqi nationals who blew themselves up outside the Stade de France football stadium outside Paris in November and he is suspected of being the man to whom the Brussels terrorists submitted their plans before blowing themselves up in March.

In June, French police reportedly received a warning that he was seeking to return to France via Albania and was an "armed and dangerous fighter".

Atar is the cousin of Ibrahim and Khalid El Bakraoui - two brothers who blew themselves up in the March Brussels airport and metro attacks, also linked to the Paris attacks.

Khalid (L) and Ibrahim (R) El Bakraoui, the two Belgian brothers identified as the suicide bombers who struck Brussels on March 22, 2016, CREDIT: AFP PHOTO / INTERPOL

Police sought to swoop on him hours after the blasts but found his flat in Anderlecht empty.

According to Le Monde, investigators unearthed audio conversations between the Bakraoui brothers and Atar discussing their terror plans in the hard disk of a computer found in a bin shortly after the Brussels blasts. The last exchange dates from the eve of the bombings in which Ibrahim El Bakraoui said that the recent arrest of accomplices forced them to act immediately. He suggested targeting Brussels airport, where he died the following day.

Another two cousins, Moustapha and Jawad Benhattal, were arrested on June 18 on suspicion of planning an attack in Belgium during a public screening of a Euro 2016 football match, Belgian media reported at the time.

Atar has a long history of links to jihadism and reportedly met Isil leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi while detained in Bucca, the Iraqi camp said to be the birthplace of Isil where radical Sunnis and former intelligence officers of Saddam Hussein’s regime first forged ties.

Atar first travelled to the Iraq-Syria area in 2002 posing as a charity worker, but American security services concluded he was a fighter and he was sentenced to ten years in prison in Iraq.

But amid rumours that he had a kidney tumour, his family launched a campaign to release him. Their demand he receive medical treatment was backed by Amnesty International along with Belgian MPs. He finally returned to Belgium in 2012 only to be arrested for seeking to join jihadists in Tunisia the following year.

He then disappeared.

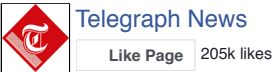

His younger brother Yacine was arrested after the attacks and police found traces of explosives on his face and clothes.

Show more

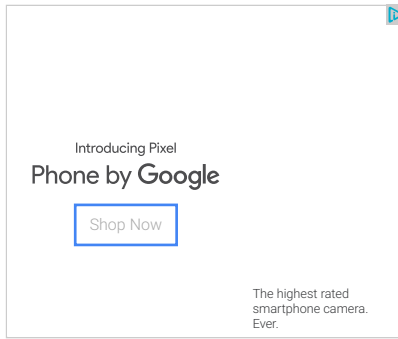

Follow Telegraph News

Follow @TelegraphNews

READ MORE ABOUT:

PARISBRUSSELS ATTACKSSYRIABELGIUMFRANCE

NEWS MOST VIEWED

1 US election polls and odds tracker: Latest results, forecasts and exit polls as race for president reaches final hours

08 Nov 2016, 10:08pm

2 What time will we see the US election results in the UK and what is the timetable for the night?

08 Nov 2016, 4:38pm

3 US election 2016 live: Donald Trump campaign launches lawsuit claiming voting fraud in Nevada as Hillary Clinton up three points in race to become America's next president

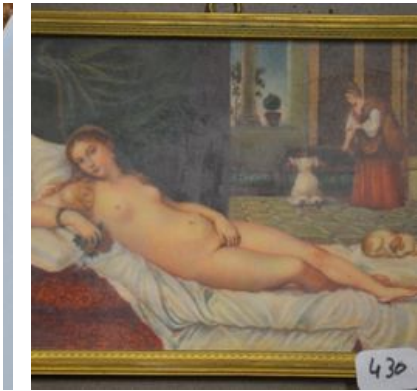

08 Nov 2016, 9:45pm

4 Will Donald Trump or Hillary Clinton win the US election? Is vote Trump or vote Clinton winning?

08 Nov 2016, 8:13pm

5 US election exit polls and results LIVE: Hillary Clinton boosted by high Latino turnout while Donald Trump claims voting fraud

08 Nov 2016, 11:35pm

Miniature rectangulaire sur ivoire représentant un nu

Low estimate: —
Sophie Himbaut

View lot

Marcel POL "Nu" Huile sur toile sbd 45 x 53 cm

Low estimate: —
Sophie Himbaut

View lot

Tall Walnut American Modern Dresser ca. 1955

Low estimate: 160 GBP
Fair Auction Company

View lot

An 18

Low es
Fieldir

View lot

powered by DunhillTravelDeals

nall arture
+

Las Flores Beach Resort in Mazatlan, Mexico
Save 50% & get free parking
View Now $19+

4-Star Hyatt Regency in the Heart of Atlanta
Double or King room - Free WiFi
View Now $109+

Air & 5-Nts Fiji Getaway - Save up to 30%
Includes transfers & breakfast
View Now $1299+

Promoted stories

Celebrities Who Support Donald J. Trump for...

Daily Crackle

Donald Trump's Garage: 17 of the Moguls...

Journalstate

Wall Street Poster Boy Makes Shocking...

The Sovereign Investor

These 18 Items Found On Earth Cannot Be Explained

CyberBreeze

Recommended by

Sponsored stories

This is the last U.S. battleship ever made. And one of the most important.

CNET

Have You Seen These 20 Hugely Embarrassing Photos That Trump Doesn't Want You To See Before...

Scribol

Recommended by

Man Hikes Jungle, Makes Discovery That Leaves Historians Speechless...

LifeDaily

America's new $2.7 billion submarine is a nuclear marvel.

CNET

This 114-year-old battleship rose from the dead. You've got to see this.

CNET

97% Of Adults Can't Name These Historical Figures. Can You?

Offbeat

10 Most Luxurious Cars Under $35k

Kelley Blue Book

18 Pictures That Prove Time Travel Is Real

CyberBreeze

Only 1 in 10 Adults Can Pass This Chemistry Test

Offbeat

News latest

US election results and state-by-state maps: What is the UK timetable for the night?

08 Nov 2016, 11:38pm

Live | US election exit polls and results LIVE: Hillary Clinton boosted by high Latino turnout while Donald Trump claims voting fraud

08 Nov 2016, 11:35pm

◆ PREMIUM

What to watch out for on election night

JOHN MCTERNAN ●● 08 Nov 2016, 11:32pm

What happens if the US presidential election result is a draw?

08 Nov 2016, 11:16pm

Will Trump or Clinton win North Carolina?

08 Nov 2016, 11:14pm

Will Trump or Clinton win Ohio?

08 Nov 2016, 11:14pm

Will Trump or Clinton win Florida?

08 Nov 2016, 11:14pm

▶ 02:22

Will Donald Trump or Hillary Clinton win the US election? Is vote Trump or vote Clinton winning?

08 Nov 2016, 11:14pm

After the massive disappointment of Barack Obama, it's time for black Americans to vote outside of the box

RAYNARD JACKSON ●● 08 Nov 2016, 11:13pm

Man with a brain tumour killed when he ran across a motorway after his behaviour became 'erratic'

08 Nov 2016, 11:04pm

Pregnant woman votes for Hillary Clinton while in labour after stopping at polls en route to hospital

08 Nov 2016, 10:51pm

Theresa May must reach out to Asia, but be aware its rampant growth won't last forever

MICHAEL AUSLIN  | 08 Nov 2016, 10:30pm

NHS discrimination warning as study finds those beyond screening age limits more likely to have cancer

08 Nov 2016, 10:00pm

Motorists who kill while using mobile phones should face tougher penalties, urges Theresa May

08 Nov 2016, 10:00pm

Exclusive: Conservative MPs draw up plan for debate and vote on triggering Brexit talks before historic Supreme Court hearing

08 Nov 2016, 10:00pm

Calls for Pentonville governor to be sacked after two inmates escaped

08 Nov 2016, 10:00pm